Arm yourself for teaching.
Your students can practice injections and draw blood samples with Nasco's Injectable Training Arm.
Here's the perfect training aid for learning injection techniques and blood sampling. It's Nasco's Life/form® Injectable Training Arm.
This realistic simulator is made of soft vinyl, cast from a live patient's arm. It features a replaceable skin and vein system, making it the most practical training arm available. An ordinary I.V. pack, filled with artificial blood, is used to demonstrate I.V. techniques and keep veins filled for blood sampling.
Ten other medical procedure simulators are available, including: a spinal injection; male and female catheterization; other intramuscular injection simulators and more. Plus a complete line of anatomical replicas.
For details, write Dept. RN 89.
